

HomeFinder

Short-Term Housing Marketplace for Students and Young Professionals, Powered by Community-Sourced Affiliations

Our goal is to make the process of relocating within developing markets simpler, faster and safer. HomeFinder is designed to allow individuals and institutions interested in renting accommodations to leverage their connections with educational institutions and trusted government and non-government organizations in order to help students find housing that better fits their needs and property managers known to trusted 3rd parties.

Feel free to review our still-in-progress code sample in the attached folder, or view the most recent version at: <http://github.com/theoandtheb/pakathon>.